

Glyn-coch

a new primary school for Glyn-coch

This month on site

October 2025

Dear Neighbour,

Welcome to your fourth construction update from the team at Willmott Dixon Construction!

Since our last letter in early September, we've reached an exciting stage: the concrete floor slab for the new school is now complete. This means you can start to see the layout of the building taking shape and get a sense of its size.

We've also been busy with drainage works and preparing level ground so that scaffolding can be safely put up from early October.

In addition, brickwork has now started on site. We're pleased to let you know this work is being carried out by Falcon Construction, a local brickwork company, who will be working with us until April.

Looking Ahead

The timber frame structure will commence towards the end of the month.

Below, we have included more progress photos captured by a drone showing the 'Before' and 'After' of the recent concrete pour.

Keep an eye out in the future for further drone shots!

In The Community

We've really enjoyed getting out and about locally over the past few weeks.

At the Glyn-coch Summer Roadshow, we had the chance to meet many of you, share updates on the build, and run a fun STEM challenge for the children. It was a glorious day with lovely weather, and it was fantastic to hear your thoughts on the project.

We're also excited to introduce the newest members of The Fern Criw YouTubers! They've filmed their very first episode, giving you real updates and insider knowledge from the site. The video will be going live next week, so keep an eye out for it. You can use the QR code on the bottom right to head straight to their channel.
