'My Day, My Way' Engagement Website is Online Now

We have setup this new website to work with people with learning disabilities.

We want to give you a place to tell us the things that are important to you.

And we want to hear how you would improve day services.

The 'My Day, My Way' website will be talking about six themes over the next 6 weeks.

We want to hear from:

- People with learning disabilities
- Parents
- Carers

There will be six surveys all about different themes on the website.

The first theme is Choices and Decisions.

The website was made after a Cabinet Members' decision to get the views and ideas of people who use our services.

The goal is to help create a new day opportunities plan that people want.

You can complete the surveys online, in person, on Zoom sessions, on the phone, or by receiving a paper copy

Easy Read versions are available for all of the content.

Councillor Geraint Hopkins, Rhondda Cynon Taf Council's Cabinet Member with responsibility for Adult Services, said:

“The new ‘My Day, My Way’ website that has launched today aims to provide a valuable resource for people with learning disabilities and autism, and their parents and carers – providing a platform for regular engagement to help us better understand where our current day services are effective, and how they can be improved.
