Introduction

Residents of Rhondda Cynon Taf value their local libraries and see them as safe and trusted spaces. They find our library staff friendly and knowledgeable and value the many services on offer. The (Adult) Customer Satisfaction Survey, carried out in March 2025, highlighted how libraries had met commitments in the previous Library Strategy and Action Plan 2022-2025, and informed and guided, along with other factors, this new Library Strategy 2026-2030.

Rhondda Cynon Taf County Borough Council's Library Service consists of 3 Area Libraries which house local history collections and 10 Branch Libraries. The libraries are vibrant community spaces, offering services that reach far beyond the provision of books. They offer community events and activities, banking hubs, public access PCs and free Wi-Fi, and information, advice and assistance, including support to apply for a disabled parking Blue Badge, Council Tax queries, Housing Benefits or a bus pass.

Local authorities have a statutory duty under the Public Libraries and Museums Act 1964 “to provide a comprehensive and efficient library service for all persons”.

The Act does not specify how this provision should be delivered or how it should meet the needs of a community except that they should:

- Have regard to encouraging both adults and children to make full use of the library service
- Lend books and other printed material free of charge to those who live, work and study in the area

In Wales the Duty “to superintend and promote the improvement of the public library service provided through local authorities” has been devolved to the relevant Welsh Government Minister since 2002 and is fulfilled through the Welsh Public Libraries Standards.

Our Library Service

Rhondda Cynon Taf Council's Corporate Plan 2024 – 2030

RCTCBC's Corporate Plan 2024 -2030: 'Working with Our Communities' has identified four Wellbeing Objectives to which the library service contributes:

Through accessible, people-centred services and community-led programmes, they contribute directly to all four Wellbeing Objectives and demonstrate strong alignment with the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015 as shown previously.

Reflection on Our Strategy 2022 – 25

Our Standards

The Welsh Government's 'Public Libraries Supporting Sustainable and Connected Communities: The seventh quality framework of Welsh Public Libraries Standards' came into force on 1st April 2025; 2026 will be the first year a report based on this new framework will be produced. The new framework consists of 13 core entitlements and 11 quality indicators, this compares to 12 core entitlements, and 15 quality indicators present in the previous framework.

For the 2024/25 assessment the Council's Libraries met all 13 core entitlements in full and of the 5 quality indicators which have targets, achieved 3 in full and 1 in part.

Libraries Connected – Universal Library Offer

Universal Library Offers are the essential things that all libraries do.

Developed by Libraries Connected, an independent charity that supports, promotes and represents public libraries, with the collaboration of library leaders, frontline workers and users, they provide a framework for a high-quality library service and demonstrate the power of libraries to enrich lives. The Universal Library Offers help to build a consistent library service across the whole of the UK but are flexible enough that local libraries can respond to the needs of their communities.

There are currently four Universal Library Offers:

Culture and Creativity

Enabling local communities to enjoy high-quality arts and cultural experiences through libraries.

Health and Wellbeing

Supporting the health and wellbeing of communities through services that inform, engage and connect.

Information and Digital

Ensuring communities can access quality information and digital services, learn new digital skills and feel safe online.

Reading

Building a literate and confident society by developing, delivering and promoting creative reading activities in libraries

RCT Libraries - Connected

RCTCBC's Libraries contribute to the goals set out in the Wellbeing of Future Generations Act, RCT Councils Corporate Plan and the Universal Library Offer through providing access to community-focused spaces that offer life-long learning through books and online information, being digitally inclusive by offering free access to the internet and, by working with partners on the delivery and facilitation of learning opportunities and information, advice and assistance for people of all ages by combined aims of:

Culture and Creativity

Cultural Heritage (1)

Libraries support the Council's Heritage Strategy by working with partners to promote cultural activities for all ages, protect local collections, and ensure residents can access materials that reflect local history.

Inclusivity (2)

Libraries commit to decolonising collections by reviewing what they hold, diversifying whose voices are represented, and improving descriptions and classification to be accurate, inclusive, and culturally sensitive.

Health and Wellbeing

Community Connection (3)

Libraries offer safe, welcoming places where people can meet, access local services, develop new skills, and take part in activities that build social and economic resilience.

Sustainability (4)

Libraries aim to reduce environmental impact by using resources efficiently, recycling, co-locating services, and working with partners to embed sustainable practices.

Information and Digital

Information, Advice and Assistance (5)

Libraries help reduce isolation by providing information, advice, and support. They empower individuals — including unpaid carers and community groups — to make informed decisions and find the help they need.

Digitisation (6)

Modern IT facilities give everyone access to online information, even those without their own devices or digital skills. Trained staff can help people learn and use digital services in an increasingly online world.

Reading

Reading (7)

Regular reading supports wellbeing by reducing stress, improving mental health, boosting knowledge, strengthening memory and brain function, and improving vocabulary, empathy, focus, and concentration.

Our Libraries in Numbers

The Welsh Public Library Standards notes several ongoing trends in Welsh libraries, all of which can be seen in Rhondda Cynon Taf Libraries. Usage shows a recovery in physical visits and book borrowing since the Covid-19 pandemic, coupled with a lasting shift towards enhanced digital services and the transformation of libraries into multi-purpose community hubs.

Key Trends

Post-Pandemic Recovery: Active borrower numbers, adult book issues, and children's book issues have all increased significantly since the peak of the COVID-19 pandemic, though have not yet returned to pre-pandemic levels.

Shift to Digital: E-issues (e-books, e-audio, etc.) saw a sharp increase during lockdowns. This trend has largely continued with RCT Libraries seeing a year on year increase in its use of e-books and e-audio.

Importance of Physical Space: Despite the digital shift, there is a strong and increasing demand for in-person services, physical browsing, and social interaction, with customers missing the library as a physical place for community groups and IT provision.

Community Hub Model: There is an increasing trend of co-locating libraries with other local services to create community hubs, offering a wide range of support from Blue Badge applications to mental health resources and job clubs.

Health and Well-being: Libraries are actively contributing to Welsh Government priorities on health and well-being, offering services like the all-Wales bibliotherapy scheme, reading well, and specific programs for dementia support.

Digital Inclusion: Libraries provide crucial public IT access and support to address digital inequalities, assisting users with job searches, CV creation, and basic computer skills.

Our Vision

To be a visible, accessible and inclusive library service at the heart of our communities, enhancing the cultural, educational, and emotional life and wellbeing of all our residents and by being a service that is valued by all.

At the core of our work is a commitment to:

- Provide bilingual services and resources in Welsh and English.
- Engage with communities to understand and respond to their needs.
- Amplify the voices of seldom heard community members.
- Collaborate with partners to ensure customers have access to the full range of provision they require.
- Keep libraries at the heart of their communities.
- Support and develop the All-Wales Library Management System with the goal of creating a National Digital Library Platform for Wales.

Our Key Strategic Priorities

We have identified three key strategic priorities that will support the achievement of our Libraries Strategy vision over the next 5 years:

Keep the Service Relevant

- Harness technology to meet evolving user needs.
- Meet evolving needs through seamlessly connected, timely services.
- Upskill staff to deliver responsive, future-ready support.

Improve the Library Experience

- Champion libraries as vibrant, welcoming centres at the very heart of community life in Rhondda Cynon Taf.
- Encourage wider participation in diverse services and resources.
- Fulfil individual and community potential by inspiring learning, creativity, and community engagement.

Develop Services Fit for the Future

- Support literacy and lifelong learning through events and opportunities for all ages.
- Provide safe, inclusive spaces both physical and digital.
- Deliver health and wellbeing guidance as a central part of our library service.
- Celebrate culture and heritage by reflecting diverse communities and decolonising archives.
- Foster creativity and innovation to enrich local economies and employment.

How we will achieve this

Strategic Priority: 'Keep the Service RELEVANT'

In an era of rapid technological change and shifting community expectations, it is essential that the Council's Libraries Service remains responsive, connected, and future focused. By harnessing the latest digital tools and platforms, we can ensure that users have access to services that meet their evolving needs in both physical and online spaces. At the same time, our ability to adapt quickly to new challenges and opportunities will allow us to deliver timely, relevant support that reflects the realities of a changing world. Central to this ambition is a commitment to upskilling our staff, equipping them with the knowledge and confidence to provide innovative, high quality services that keep the library at the heart of community life.

Action
Enhance the digitisation programme and make resources available through the updated 'Our Heritage' website, ensuring collections are accessible anytime and maintaining a strong online presence.
Adopt new IT developments and explore innovative digital services to improve the library user experience.
Upskill library staff so they can deliver services that remain relevant and responsive to changing user needs.
Upgrade equipment across libraries and integrate emerging technologies such as Virtual Reality and Artificial Intelligence.
Expand access to diverse online resources, maintaining the wide offer of eBooks, eAudio, digital magazines, newspapers, and databases; and continue working with the Welsh Government's Culture Division and the Society of Chief Librarians (SCL) to identify potential All-Wales resources.

Strategic Priority: 'Improve the Library EXPERIENCE'

RCTCBC's libraries are more than buildings; they are vibrant community spaces where culture, learning, and opportunity come together. By placing libraries at the heart of Rhondda Cynon Taf's cultural life, we can inspire creativity, support personal growth, and encourage participation across all ages and backgrounds. Expanding access to our diverse range of services ensures that every resident has the chance to fulfil their potential, while strengthening the role of libraries as welcoming, inclusive hubs that enrich daily life.

Action
Deliver a focused programme of educational and entertaining events for children of all ages.
Ensure residents have access to a broad range of diverse leisure and learning opportunities through libraries and partners.
Collaborate with partners, colleagues, and Council Services to provide comprehensive information, advice, and support on wellbeing and health.
Work with heritage, arts, and cultural partners and volunteers to develop a varied programme of cultural activities.
Review library policies to ensure they are supportive and fair, and focus on reducing barriers.
Invest in staff training to empower employees with knowledge and skills to deliver outstanding, user centred service.
Gather and act on user feedback through surveys, suggestion boxes, and focus groups, ensuring decisions are informed by community input.
Expand access to learning opportunities for all, continuing collaboration with colleagues and partners to build on current provision.

Strategic Priority: 'Develop Services FIT FOR THE FUTURE'

To remain vital in the years ahead, the Library Service must evolve to reflect the changing needs of our communities. This means supporting literacy and lifelong learning, offering safe and inclusive spaces both online and in person, and championing health and wellbeing initiatives. By celebrating culture and heritage, fostering creativity, and embracing innovation, we can ensure libraries continue to inspire, educate, and contribute to local economic growth. Our commitment to digitisation, new technologies, and diverse programming will keep the service dynamic, relevant, and future ready.

Action

Promote reading and library use as a vital part of residents' social and educational lives, highlighting its contribution to mental health and wellbeing.

Improve services by meeting people's needs and trying new ways of delivering them, guided by feedback.

Ensure inclusive representation so that everyone is represented in our culture and heritage work, address past marginalisation through decolonisation, and celebrate diverse communities through our collections, displays, and events.

Facilitate collaboration & Position libraries as central community hubs by supporting the growth of resilience initiatives and strengthening partnerships with our communities, the public, private and third sector.

Outcomes and Impacts:

What success will look like

People will:

Gain knowledge and skills through library use

Libraries provide free access to books, online resources, learning platforms, and skilled staff who offer guidance and support. Through formal and informal learning opportunities—such as workshops, study spaces, and digital training—people can expand their knowledge, develop new skills, and pursue lifelong learning.

Success looks like:

People reporting improved skills, increased engagement with learning resources, and evidence of personal or educational progression. Success will be measured using performance against the Welsh Public Library Standards (WPLS), Customer satisfaction Surveys, Project Assessments and feedback from library sessions/activities.

- WPLSQI B1 – Making a difference (results of customer survey and impact statement).
- Evaluation of funded projects such as the ‘Altered Images’ project show that project targets are met.
- Feedback from people attending library activities/sessions shows that at least 90% of attendees state that attendance helped them to achieve their goals.

Join in reading and cultural events organised by the Libraries Service

Libraries host a rich programme of activities, including reading groups, author talks, storytelling sessions, exhibitions, and creative workshops. These events encourage participation in culture, foster a love of reading, and make arts and literature accessible to all.

Success looks like:

Strong levels of engagement, diverse participation, and positive feedback about cultural enrichment and enjoyment. Success will be measured using performance against the Welsh Public Library Standards (WPLS), Customer satisfaction Surveys, Project Assessments and feedback from library sessions/activities.

- WPLSQI B2 – Library Use. Number of book issues and electronic downloads.
- Number of children taking part in the Summer Reading Challenge
- Number of attendees at reading or cultural events.

Feel part of a stronger, more connected community

As safe, neutral, and welcoming spaces, libraries bring people together. Through community activities, social groups, volunteering opportunities, and everyday interactions, libraries help build social connections and strengthen community cohesion.

Success looks like:

Residents reporting that the library helps them feel connected, supported, and part of their local community. Success will be measured using performance against the Welsh Public Library Standards (WPLS), Customer satisfaction Surveys, Project Assessments and feedback from library sessions/activities.

- WPLSQI B2 – Library Use. Total number of visits to library premises.
- Number of attendees at library events.
- Evaluation of funded projects such as the 'Altered Images' project show that project targets are met.

Be included in the digital world

Libraries provide free Wi-Fi, PCs, devices, and digital support from staff. They offer skills sessions, one-to-one help, and access to online services—ensuring that everyone, regardless of income or experience, can participate confidently in the digital world.

Success looks like:

More people confidently using digital tools, accessing online services, and overcoming digital exclusion. Success will be measured using performance against the Welsh Public Library Standards (WPLS), Customer satisfaction Surveys, Project Assessments and feedback from library sessions/activities.

- WPLSQI B2 – Library Use. Total number of customers helped by means of informal support during the year.
- Number of attendees at library events aimed at improving digital skills. e.g. computer classes, Let's get digital sessions.

Rediscover reading as an enjoyable leisure activity (in library or by online)

Through attractive book displays, reader recommendations, e-books, audiobooks, and leisure reading promotions, libraries make reading easy and enjoyable. The relaxing environment of the library—and the convenience of 24/7 digital access—encourages people to reconnect with reading for pleasure.

Success looks like:

Growing engagement with reading—both in-library and online—and positive feedback about reading for pleasure. Improve their wellbeing and health by using library services

Libraries support wellbeing through reading for pleasure, social connection, safe spaces, health information, and programmes such as Books on Prescription. Activities that reduce isolation, promote relaxation, and encourage creativity also make a positive contribution to mental and physical health.

Success looks like:

Users reporting better wellbeing, reduced isolation, and improved emotional or mental health due to library services. Success will be measured using performance against the Welsh Public Library Standards (WPLS), Customer satisfaction Surveys, Project Assessments and feedback from library sessions/activities.

- WPLSQI B4 – Support for health and well-being. Description of types of services, resources and activities your library service provides to support individual and community health and well-being. Take a more active role in community life through library facilities

Libraries empower people to participate by offering meeting spaces, volunteering roles, civic information points, and opportunities to engage in community projects. They act as accessible hubs where residents can get involved, share skills, and contribute to local life.

Success looks like:

Residents increasingly using library spaces for community activity and feeling empowered to contribute to local life.
