

Rhondda Athletic Club

This summer the Commonwealth Games took place in Birmingham, and the Queen's Baton Relay visited every Commonwealth nation and territory. On its journey through Wales the baton visited King George V Athletic track in Clydach Vale, the home of Rhondda Athletic Club.

Children from all over RCT were welcomed to the track for an athletics taster session, delivered by Rhondda AC coaches and members.

Five club members were selected as baton bearers. Wayne Hughes, Rhys Jones, Catherine Alford, Glyndwr Pugh and Pauline Dobbs carried the baton around the track, as hundreds of people watched on. It was a fantastic day and a great opportunity to celebrate the club and the new athletics track.
