

Ollie and Billy Maesycoed Primary School

Two of our fantastic Young Ambassadors from Maesycoed volunteer four of their lunchtimes every week to support play and physical activity on the playground. Their commitment, enthusiasm, and willingness to volunteer have helped to create a more active, inclusive, and positive lunchtime experience for so many pupils. Whether they're organising games, encouraging others to join in, or simply acting as positive role models, their impact never goes unnoticed. Their dedication truly makes a difference, and they should be incredibly proud of everything they do. This year they have already completed 115 volunteer hours.

"Two amazing boys, who've grown in confidence in different ways. They treat the younger children with respect and have become great role models for our school. They've played all manner of games with the children, from Red light, green light, hopscotch, parachutes, and circus games. But their favourite at the moment is cornhole." Teacher

"We have learnt how to get a large group of children to play together without arguing, and how to tell people the rules so that everyone understands." YA
